Andrew Thibaut joins Construction Systems Inc. as Project Manager

COLUMBUS, Ohio – December 3, 2008 – Construction Systems Inc. (CSI) recently hired Andrew Thibaut as project manager.

In his new position, Thibaut will be responsible for quantity take-offs, estimating, and project management services for CSI's commercial construction projects. Thibaut will handle projects from pre-construction throughout the construction phase, scheduling manpower, securing materials, and working with general contractors and construction management personnel to ensure timely submittals and work completion.

JD Flaherty, Jr., CSI President said, "We are proud that CSI continues to attract the next generation of highly skilled and motivated employees that are committed to continuing CSI's tradition of excellent craftsmanship and client service. Drew is also an example of success in employing multiple generations."

Thibaut has 4 years of project management experience and is a member of the Builders Exchange. Thibaut earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from The Ohio State University in 2003 and resides in German Village.
